

FileFacets eBook

How FileFacets Helps Solve for the GDPR

FileFacets for GDPR

FileFacets provides the platform and methodology to help businesses comply with the GDPR. With years of experience in information governance, we provide the tools for acquiring data from multiple sources and identifying Personally Identifiable Information (PII).

The FileFacets platform allows you to scan multiple sources and repositories to locate and identify any Personal Identifiable Information (PII) or sensitive data that your organization may possess. The Analytics tool can be regularly run so that any new content that is being created that contains PII can be flagged, moved, deleted or secured in a safe environment.

How FileFacets Helps

Data Discovery &
Data Protection

Risk
Mitigation

Reporting

Data Subject
Rights

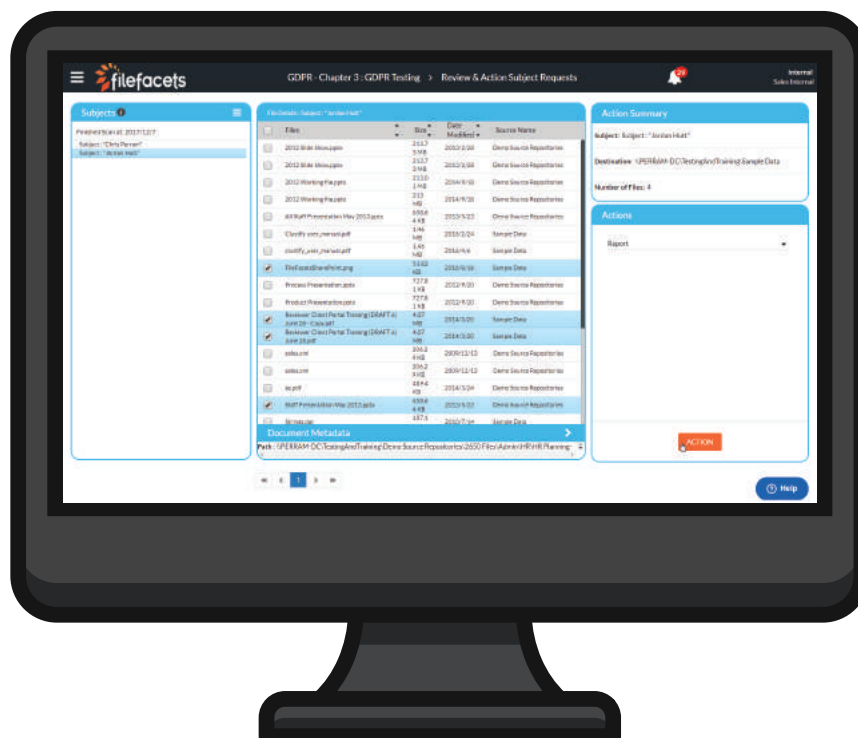

Information
Governance

Data Discovery & Data Protection

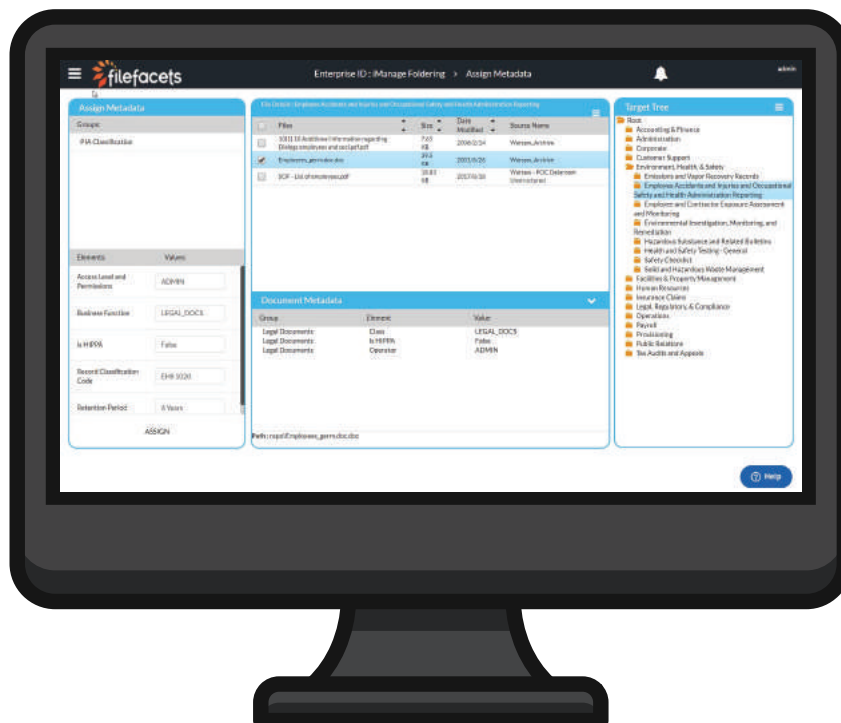

- Identify documents that contain personal data in each repository
- Identify document types and categories that are likely to contain sensitive or personal data
- Define automated data processing rules to mitigate risk
- On-going reporting on personal data across the enterprise, identifying what and where files containing personal data reside

Risk Mitigation

- Establish processes and procedures for the handling of files that contain personal data
- Apply file classifications and attributions to sensitive files
- Automate business processes for sensitive data handling
- Migrate or auto-archive sensitive documents to a secure location

Reporting

- Identify all files across multiple repositories, email and desktops in an organization
- Identify all documents and records containing personal data that may have been affected in the event of a data breach
- Produce a comprehensive list of records that contain personal data, by repository, by subject, etc.
- Export or copy files that were affected by a breach.
- Audit users' decisions on the requests and actions of files and file types

Data Subject Rights

Right to Access

Where an individual requests to view and retain a copy of all of their personal data being held by an organization.

Right to Data Portability

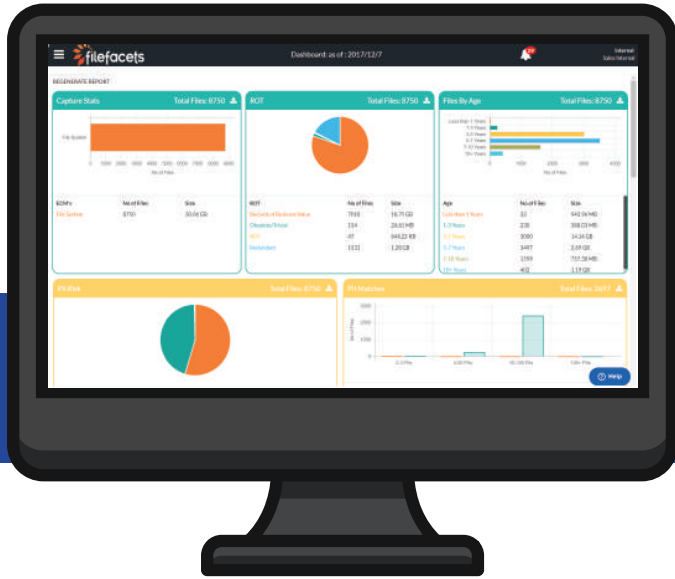

Where an individual requests to retain a copy to move their personal data records to another business or service provider

Right to be Forgotten

Where an individual requests to have their personal data removed from a business' data stores.

Right to Notification

Reporting on compromised data in the case of a breach of an individual's personal data.

Privacy Compliance & Enterprise Analytics

An intuitive, easy to use solution for data protection and information management requirements

While preparing your organization with data protection and information management business processes is the first step in preparing for GDPR requirements, you can be confident that the actioning of these processes can be achieved in an easy to use, streamlined way.

Visit us at filefacets.com, or email us at sales@filefacets.com to request a demo and end-to-end tour of the platform.

