

FileFacets for Data Subject Access Requests

FileFacets provides the platform and methodology to help businesses comply with the GDPR. With years of experience in information governance, we provide the tools for acquiring data from multiple sources and identifying Personally Identifiable Information.

How it Works

FileFacets' Enterprise ID platform allows you to scan multiple sources and repositories to locate and identify any Personal Identifiable Information (PII) or sensitive data that your organisation may possess. The Analytics tool can be consistently scheduled to run - so any new content that is being created that contains PII can be flagged, moved, deleted, or secured in a safe environment.

With the advent of new GDPR requirements, and the penalties attached to them, it means becoming GDPR compliant, or getting hit with hefty fees.

In addition to the changes to security policy and procedure that a business must adopt, organisations also need to implement tools that satisfy a subject's rights requirements. Through a sophisticated, yet simple interface, FileFacets' Enterprise ID helps your organization achieve the actioning of these requests in an easy to use, streamlined way.

Expanded Territory

FileFacets Privacy Compliance Platform is accessible globally across multiple jurisdictions while respecting data sovereignty and data security concerns globally, and allows for global collaboration in an easy to use online environment.

Privacy by Design

Include FileFacets Privacy Compliance Platform as part of your business process management and workflow to ensure all PII is secure, and meets the accessibility requirement of GDPR.

Breach Notification

In the case of a data breach, FileFacets can find and report on the data that was compromised. Instead of spending valuable time scrambling to find this information, FileFacets makes the information immediately available.

Right to Access

FileFacets performs a byte-by-byte scan of all enterprise documents that lets businesses locate sensitive information, identify what is being processed, and the ability to export that information for reporting and compliance purposes.

Right to Be Forgotten

FileFacets allows business to locate, process and permanently delete files that contain the personal information of specified individuals and can be identified by document types, group, content or exact data strings.

Data Portability

FileFacets can easily locate all files and record containing a subject's information across all data systems in order to move or copy that data to a 3rd party location to ensure a secure transfer.
